METALLIC BURIAL CASES.

The subscriber has purchased the right to sell the Patent Metallic Burial Cases for the Island of Rhode Island; and he has just received a fine supply of the different sizes and patterns. These Cases will not preserve remains for all future time without some decay; but we do assert that remains can be kept in them for weeks without decomposition being observable, or without any offensive odor escaping. In grounds which are wet, they will be found doubly useful, and will answer all the purposes of vaults—which are so often made to shut out the water. If it is necessary at any time, even fifty years after interment, to remove remains, it can be done without any difficulty—for the Cases themselves will last as long as time itself.

Every description of wood coffins constantly on hand and made to order.

The Daily News.

NEWPORT,
BY CRANSTON & NORMAN,
127 THAMES STREET.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEP. 26, 1851.

☞Kossuth, the distinguished Hungarian patriot and exile, is soon to land upon our shores, and he will probably recieve such a welcome as has been extended to no foreigner since the noble Lafayette paid us his last visit. It is very proper that this great hero should recieve just such a greeting from the Americans as we are confident that they will give him, because he is in all respects worthy of it. His great and good powers were nobly exerted in behalf of his oppressed and down-trodden countrymen, and although he was unsuccessful, still the fault was not his; and having done all in his power for his country, he now comes to seek a home in the only land of freedom on earth.

In our opinion there is but one man in this country who can make the appropriate welcome address to Kossuth, when he lands upon our shores,—and that man is the Secretary of State, the nation's idolised son, the Constitution's great and able defender,—Daniel Webster. No one will dispute but that Mr. Webster most thoroughly understands the Hungarian question, and no one will say that he is not the most suitable person in the country, both as a man and in his official capacity, to welcome the distinguished Kossuth to our shores.—We trust that Mr. Webster will be selected for this important and interesting duty. We desire to see it well done, and we know that such will be the case, if the work is assigned to Daniel Webster.

☞The steamer Bay State, on her passage from New York to this place, Wednesday night, ran down a sloop,—but no lives were lost. The Empire State, the same night, soon after she left here, was run into by a schooner, doing a good deal of damage. The schooner was brought into this port, and after some delay the steamer proceeded to New York; the steamer also sustained some injury, which may cause her detention in New York to repair. We have not heard the particulars as to either of the accidents.

☞At the Annual meeting of the Redwood Library and Atheneum Company, holden on Wednesday, the following officers were elected:—

President, Dr. David King.
Directors, Peleg Cl[illegible] Hunter.
Secretary, R. J. Taylor.
Treasurer, Augustus Bush.

☞Graham's Magazine for October has been recieved. Its engravings are "The Dawning Light," Paris Fashions, a "Scene in the country, Music, &c.—The literary articles are by Read, Mrs. Smith, Herbert, Conrad, Mrs. Orne, and others. The typographical appearance is very neat.

☞The steamship Africa arrived at New York on Wednesday, from Europe, but she brings no news of importance.

Rev. Dr. Whitehouse, it is announced, has accepted the post of Assistant Bishop of Illinois, but the consecration will not take place until next Spring.

☞Miss Catharine Hayes gave her first Grand Concert at Tripler Hall, New York, last Tuesday evening, to an overflowing audience. The papers speak in the highest terms of her success, and she bids fair to be as great a favorite as Jenny Lind has been.

☞Thackarey is writing a novel in three volumes, to be published in the winter. The scene is in England, in the early part of the eighteenth century, and Bolingbroke, Swift, Pope and Steele figure among the personages.

☞A paragraph is going about among the country papers to the effect that the Editor of the Tribune has taken up tobacco-smoking! and our contemporaries pretend to quote an extract from one of his letters from Europe in support of that story. It is entirely untrue; he has not yet seen anything to make the use of tobacco in any form seem other than filthy, nauseous and disgusting; nor can any other opinion be found in any letter he ever wrote. The matter is of small consequence, but as two or three subscribers have written to inquire about it, we make the explanation.—[Tribune.

We retract. The Philadelphia Led[illegible], which started the report, mistook the [illegible] of another correspondent of the Tribune, for a veritable "Greeley," and we fell into the like error. Be it known, therefore to all our readers that Horace neither smokes nor [illegible] chaws, but continues to eschew the weed in toto (with the exception of W[illegible] of the Evening Journal,) and to believe in socialism, the spirit rappings [illegible], and old Swedenborg, just as usual.

WHAT IS IT TO BE DRUNK?

NO. III.

"From the very pit of my soul, I wish that Mr. Webster was a cold water man. I wish he was President of a grand, national, total abstinence society—but we could not elect him, if we tried; and he would not accept the office, if elected.—The influence of his example would be immense. But we are not likely to have the benefit of that example, at present; and now, I appeal to those "millions of temperance men," to whom Mr. Horace Mann has appealed, and I ask them—what we shall do about it?

Mr. Webster has never touched us, with his omnipotent spear, in any tender point, between the joints of the harness—he has never piqued our professional pride, by questioning the soundness and sufficiency of our legal opinions—we have nothing to remember against him, in the shape of personal offence—we have no revenge to gratify—we bear no malice in our hearts, towards this great statesman—we stand therefore upon neutral ground, when we appeal to those "millions of temperance men;" and not upon the same ground, at all, with Mr. Horace Mann, who occupies the ground, and assumes the air, and employs the manner and language of a belligerant, and is moved by a spirit of resentment, the springs whereof are perfectly intelligible to an observant community.

I make this appeal, in the spirit of perfect impartiality—without fear, favor, or hope of reward. I have nothing to ask—nothing to hope, from Mr. Webster—excepting a share, for myself—for my children—and for theirs—of all those incalculable benefits, which he has already achieved, and which I humbly trust, by the Providence of God, he is destined to achieve, for our common country.

I make this appeal, as a cold water man. If the cause of total abstinence is dear to Mr. Horace Mann, it is not less dear to me. I appeal then, calmly, not "Martin Luther-fashion," as I understand it—but common sense fashion, to the "millions of temperance men throughout the country." I ask them, if they are quite ready to pin their faith, upon the political sleeve of a malevolent witness, whose motives are manifest—or, if they do not think it the wiser course, upon the whole, to look—as sternly as they please—but, steadily and composedly—upon the facts—and draw legitimate conclusions, agreeably to old and well established rules?

In the first place, Mr. Webster has never pretended to be a cold water man, or a total abstinence man. He has violated no pledge. The first temperance society, of which I have any knowledge, in this country, was the society of Moreau and Northumberland, in the State of New York. That society was founded, in 1808. The Massachusetts Temperance Society began to exist, in 1812. At that time, Mr. Webster was about nine and twenty years of age. The absence of wine, gin, and brandy, from the sideboard of the opulent, and of the less expensive, but equally fiery, beverages, from the buffets or closets of the humbler classes, was universally accounted a mark of great illiberality. The Massachusetts Temperance Society contemplated no such achievement. Its days were then the days of small things; its aspirations were sufficiently humble. Its aim was simply temperare calicem—to moderate the use of distilled liquor. Notwithstanding the record was before the world, that Belshazzar, and Lot, and Noah and the Christians of Corinth, around the very table of their Lord, were made drunk with wine notwithstanding the curse of drunkenness, denounced upon all Jerusalem, from God, by the prophet Jeremiah, was prefigured to its inhabitants, by the type of bottles filled with wine—the idea, that wine would make men drunk, seems not to have occurred to the projectors of temperance societies, in the olden time.—Thus, they directed their energies against drunkenness, produced by distilled alcohol alone; indicating precisely the same measure of wisdom and forecast, that would characterize the proceedings of a legislative body, that should enact a law, against murder, committed, by the administration of arsenic, and leaving the crime unforbidden when committed, by any other means.

Mr. Webster, doubtless, became accustomed to the use of wine, and probably, of other stimulating beverages, in early life, as tens of thousands of highly respectable gentlemen have done, long before the existence of temperance societies. Dr. Holyoke took as much alchohol, as he thought good for him, to the very last of his one hundred years. So did Mr. John Quincy Adams and his venerable father, before him, to the end of their days. These gentlemen were of the olden time. The quantity taken by them was probably small, and taken systematically; and few things would be more absurd, than for men, who are utterly unable to imitate their example, in this perilous particular.—For the same amount of restraining grace, which those great men possessed, falls to the lot of a very small number.

Now, Mr. Webster does the very same thing—that is, he takes as much alcohol, as he thinks good for him. But Mr. Horace Mann declares, that Mr. Webster takes too much. How shall this question be decided? Clearly, Mr. Mann's self-complacency will not mislead him to compare his ability to do anything, wherein the brain is concerned, with Mr. Webster's ability to do the very same thing. It is quite possible, that the quantity of alchohol which Mr. Webster takes, would have a most mischievous effect, upon a much weaker head. It might sour the sweet tempers of Mr. Mann and myself, and make us "dangerous," as Dirk Hatterick says of himself to Glossin. The question is not, whether Mr. Webster takes alcohol enough to make Mr. Mann exceedingly drunk, but whether he takes enough to make himself drunk, and "notoriously addicted to intoxication."

Doubtless, upon strict temperance principles, the smallest quantity is more than is good for any man, in health; for we know, by the experience of mankind, that it is with very many, as it was with Dr. Johnson. When requested, by Hannah More, to take a little wine—he replied, that he could not take a little; that abstinence was easier than temperance, for him. It is not possible for any temperance prophet, to predict who will be drunkards, and who will escape, until the perilous experiment be made. Total abstinence therefore, upon this theory, is the only safe course, of general application. The example of such a man, as Mr. Webster, as I have said already, would be pre-eminently useful to our cause; and, once more, let me express my sincere regret, that he is not a total abstinence man.

Like John Quincy Adams, and [illegible] other great men, who have taken more than they believed to be good for them, Mr. Webster has endorsed the temperance reform, with the most ample testimony of his entire respect. Why then does he not adopt its principles in his own life and practice? Why do some persons prefer the old wind[illegible] roads, before turnpikes, and the old-fashioned four wheeled coaches, before railroad cars? If we admit, that Mr. Webster is "notoriously addicted to intoxication," then we may as well give up the argument, and confess the fi[illegible]ty of these illustrations. But we admit no such thing, in the opprobious sense, in which the allegation is made, by his irritated and virulent pursuer.

That any quantity of alcohol, rev[illegible]ed into the stomach, will produce an influence upon the brain and nerves, is quite likely to be true. We may subtilize and refine our philosophy, and call this conditio rerum, intoxication. In the ordinary understanding of intelligent men, it is no such thing—clearly it is not being "drunk." The quantity of alchohol, necessary to produce intoxication, in the popular sense of that word, is infinitely various, depending on constitutional diathesis, as well as on the condition of the stomach, and other organs, at the particular time. A puff of wind, which would scarcely be felt, on board a first rate, might throw an inferior craft, upon her beam ends.

So far from defending the use of alcohol, by Mr. Webster, we exceedingly regret, that he uses it at all; and should rejoice, with exceeding great joy, should we appeal to his high example, in behalf of the temperance reform. But we belong not to that high school, where the disciples are taught to call every man, however worthy he may be, who holds a slave, a manstealer and a pirate; nor to that school of temperance, whose members proclaim every man to be a drunkard, who drinks wine or brandy. For in the speeches and writings of Mr. Webster, we discover, in every one, the most ample evidence of "temperance." And can there be found stronger marks of "intemperance" than characterize the talkings and the writings of his assailant! Yet the latter, "cold water man," accuses the former of being "notoriously addicted to intoxication"—risum teneatis, amici?"

Let us go a little farther into the philosophy of this matter. OLD TIMES.

THE GOLD DISCOVERIES IN AUSTRALIA.—The news of the discovery of a [illegible] a town of 4,000 inhabitants, at [illegible] Sydney, has received additional confirmation.—The accounts are about a week later than those previously received, and it appears that most of the parties who had hurried to the spot realized quantities as great as those which on the average are obtained in California. About a thousand pounds worth of the metal had been recieved at Sydney in the course of only a few days. A piece weighing four and a half lbs. had been despatched for the Great Exhibition, and is consequently expected here immediately. One company had been organized, and its operations average an ounce a day to each man. Notwithstanding all these favorable particulars it will be necessary to wait further advices before forming any opinion as to the probable permanence of the yield.

There is, however, at present strong presumptive evidence that the supply will be continuous. It appears that the region was discovered by a Mr. E. H. Hargraves. About sixteen years since he travelled over that part of the country, when its scenery, and to a certain extent its geographical features made an impression on his mind. After the discovery of California he visited the mines in that state, and was struck with the similarity of the district to that which he had seen in Australia so long before. From that time he was haunted by the desire to return and explore it for gold. He did so at the cost of much danger and suffering, and the result according to his words has been the realization of "unbounded wealth" for the colony.

THE MICHIGAN CONSPIRACY CASE.—Mr. Seward commenced his address to the jury for the defence on Friday, the 12th inst., and concluded on the evening of Monday, the 15th, having spoken nearly three days. The papers do not report the speeches, but the Detroit Tribune informs us that during Mr. Seward's argument the large hall was filled with ladies and gentlemen, and although the heat was oppressive, the audience retained their seats with almost breathless interest. Persons came miles to hear him, from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and the interior of Michigan. Mr. Van Dyke commenced the closing argument of the prosecution on the morning of the 16th inst.

Never put implicit faith in a man who has once deceived you.

A NOVEL WAY OF WITNESSING AN EXECUTION.—On Friday last, Aaron B. Stockey was hung at the Toombs, New York. The crowd who were anxious to be present was, as usual, very large, but the number of passes was limited, in fact confined to a few issued by the Sheriff. Just before the execution, a friend of the jailer of the Toombs applied to him for admittance, but as that officer had no authority in the case, he could not accede to the request. But it was finally arranged that the friend should be passed in by means of a commitment, and so be present at the execution. A blank was accordingly made out, and the man was committed to the care of an attendant, who, not understanding the arrangement, delivered him over to another keeper, who most unceremoniously locked him up in a common cell, notwithstanding his protestations. He was even threatened with a straight jacket if he did not keep quiet, and it was not till after the execution was all over, that the unfortunate victim of curiosity could prevail on his keeper to communicate his situation to the jailer of the prison, who quickly released him.

To neglect advertising is about as bad as forgetting to open your store.

THOSE who wish to enjoy a supper, desire a good one; the best that can be had; Is it presumption in the subscriber to say that he can furnish the same? Please test the point. Desiring to be patronized, permit him to give some reasons why he should be; the first of which is, the fact given above, which is true, because he has had much experience in the business, and no dull scholar has he been. Who has not heard of Downing? Who has not been to Downing's?—Downing who has been catering for the Public for the last thirty years at 3, 5 and 7 Broad st. N. FINE MINIATURES.

Visitors to the Crystal Palace are all amazed at the singular beauty and vividness of the Daguerreotypes from New York. And the best of these come from whose work is probably equal to any in the world, in this difficult art. Difficult, because so much depends upon light, time, attitude, and the taste and tact of the operator: for the perfection of all which requisites, Lawrence's place is well known.

The reception parlor at Lawrence's is fitted up in the luxurious style of a Fifth avenue drawing room. Then up stairs you will find a real artist and a first-rate Operator who has a very "taking" way with him, and multiplies you by two, in a jiffy.

N. B. No Pictures taken at ONE DOLLAR, as competent operators cannot take competent pictures on incompetent materials.

Court of Probate, Newport, Sep. 1st 1851.

UPON the petition of CATHARINE F. WICKHAM, by her Att'y, H. Y. ## SPRINGFIELD MUTUAL
HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANY,

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
GEO. H. NORMAN, Agent.

THIS institution is conducted on the mutual principle, so far as to admit the parties insured to an equal participation in the profits of the company.

It insures to individual female persons between the ages of fifteen and sixty years, a weekly income at the rate of 400 per cent, upon amounts annually deposited; in cases of disqualification for business by reason of sickness or accident. For instance, a person paying $5 a year, insures to himself $5 (or 100 per cent.) for every week's illness within that year. These benefits are independent of whatever dividends may annually accrue to the insured.

The rates of annual payments by the members are as follows:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| $2 00 | per Annum, | draws | $2 00 | per week, | |
| 3 00 | " | " | " | 3 00 | " " |
| 4 00 | " | " | " | 4 00 | " " |
| 5 00 | " | " | " | 5 00 | " " |
| 6 00 | " | " | " | 6 00 | " " |
| 7 00 | " | " | " | 7 00 | " " |
| 8 00 | " | " | " | 8 00 | " " |

Persons desirous of providing against protracted sickness, and who will except the first week, will be taken 25 per cent less, viz:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| $1 50 | per Annum, | draws | $2 00 |
| 2 25 | " " | " | 3 00 |
| 3 00 | " " | " | 4 00 |
| 3 75 | " " | " | 5 00 |
| 4 50 | " " | " | 6 00 |
| 5 25 | " " | " | 7 00 |
| 6 00 | " " | " | 8 00 |

The main design of this company is to enable prudent and discreet persons of small means, to make provision while in health, by a trifling outlay, against the aggravated sufferings that inevitably invade a sick bed, in cases of pecuniary privation and inability to labor. A vast amount of human wretchedness has been prevented or mitigated, within the present generation, by the establishment, in Europe, of similar provident institutions; and within a short period, this system of Health Insurance has been introduced into our own country, with results, thus far, equally beneficial to all whose relief it contemplates—more especially to those who toil daily for their daily bread, and to whom any interruption by sickness becomes a serious and distressing calamity.

By this system, also, one person may insure the health of another—a parent that of a child, or a child that of a parent—an employer that of a workman, or of an apprentice, &c. Thus, those who are able, by a small immediate investment, may relieve themselves from the hazard of incurring heavy burthens, inflicted involuntarily by those who might otherwise become dependants upon them for continued care and support.

While the most humane and benevolent dispositions of mankind are subserved by every association of this description, its beneficiaries are exempted from being forced in the degraded condition of recipients of the bounty of others. For, by the contract into which they enter, they purchase and fairly earn all the benefits which they may demand, as a matter of just and legal right; and, if it so please Providence that they escape the affliction against which they have measurably provided, the satisfactory reflection is left, that the price of their own immunity has been applied to the comfort and succor of their less fortunate fellow beings.

It is presumed that no extended argument can be required to recommend the objects of this Company to public consideration. A perusal of the Rules and Regulations adopted by the Directors, which may be had at my office, will afford an ample insight into the principles of the Institution, and of its modes of operation.

MEDICINES FOR THE PEOPLE!
DR. S. A. WEAVER'S
CANKER AND SALT RHEUM SYRUP,
CANKER CURE AND CERATE.

THESE preparations are the scientific productions of a regularly educated physician (who is now extensively engaged in the practice of his profession.) They have become deservedly popular in all sections of the country, where they have been introduced, from the fact that they have never failed to effect a cure where they have been used according to direction.

THE CANKER AND SALT RHEUM SYRUP is a article differing entirely from Sarsaparilla or Dock Syrups, or any other preparation ever offered to the public. It can be positively relied on for the cure of all Scrofulous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Canker in the Mouth, Stomach or Bowels, Female weaknesses, and all humors arising from an impure state of the blood. In a word it is a complete renovator, eradicating disease and restoring to healthy action every part of the system.

THE CERATE

In all cases of humors, and especially for Salt Rheum and Erysipelas, is a valuable accompaniment to the Syrup; as it will effectually destroy every vestige of Humor from the surface of the body which will be driven out by the use of the Syrup. It is one of the most valuable external applications ever known for Burns, Scalds, Scald Head, Old Sores, Piles, Barbers Itch, and all other eruptions of the skin. And far supersedes all other external applications.

THE CANKER CURE

Is the desideratum so long sought for the relief and cure of certain diseases which all other preparations have failed to relieve. It is warranted a positive cure for Nursing Sore Mouths, in these cases it has never failed. Thousands have tried it, and been cured; also, for Canker in the Mouth, Stomach and Bowels, and obstinate dysentery it has effected cures after all other tried remedies had failed. For Ulcers and all diseases proceeding from cankerous humors in the system this is useful and is a valuable accompaniment to the Syrup in all cases of Canker.

None of the above articles are genuine without the signature of S. A. WEAVER & Co, on the outside wrapper.

Manufactured in New London, Conn., by S. A. WEAVER & Co., sole proprietors, to whom all orders must be addressed.

A CARD.

DOCT. F. GOURAUD,

Medical Doctor, a graduate of the Academy of Medicine and Surgery of Paris, France,

SURGEON OCULIST,
DENTIST,
AND PROFESSOR OF CHEMISTRY,

begs the honor to apprize the Ladies and Gentlemen of Newport and vicinity; and, in general, his former acquaintances and former patients, for the last seven years past, that he has begun again his former practice of Medicine and Surgery, at his Dwelling, No. 19 Bridge Street; where he offers his professional services to them, as a Surgeon Dentist and Oculist: his long experience [illegible] given to those who placed confidence in his skill, dexterity and performances [illegible] general satisfaction, will have the [illegible] enlightened public that their [illegible] with [illegible] under regard to [illegible] themselves or their children [illegible] the defects of their teeth in the different operations performed in the art of Dentistry [illegible].

As a Surgeon Oculist, in the [illegible] chronics, inflammations or [illegible] which affect the Eyes and the Sight, [illegible] young subjects or older [illegible] his [illegible] in the city of Paris [illegible] scientific and [illegible] himself eminently acquainted with the [illegible] with those concerning the operation [illegible] on STRABICS SUBJECTS, [illegible] Eyed.

This delicate operation which gives instead [illegible] to an awkward well-disagreeable [illegible] of nature, performed by a skillful operator [illegible] need to about 30 seconds, or, to the furthest [illegible] minute's anxiety; and, no other [illegible] sensation than the feeling of a bite of [illegible] bering under the Eyelids, or the prick of a [illegible] cambric linen needle, introduced in the [illegible] as an evidence, the only sight or inspection of the instruments used in performing the operation, will be all sufficient to induce a Strabic without any hesitation to desire the immediate performance of the operation.

It is necessary here to state, that in 1841, the Doctor was the First practitioner who introduced and performed the operation of strabismus in the city of New York, upon 21 Strabic subjects, with an indisputable success, after having operated upon upwards of 500 in France.

Professor Alexander C. Barry's Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound, for restoring, preserving, and beautifying hair, eradicating scurf and dandruff, and curing diseases of the skin, glands and muscles, stings, cuts, bruises, sprains, &c.—In order to convince the public of the [illegible] of any curative preparation, in this [illegible] and reflective age, it is necessary to explain the philosophy of its operation. The process by which Professor Barry's Tricopherous produces such extraordinary results, cannot be understood, without a brief notice of the structure and uses of the delicate substances to which it is applied, and in the condition of which it accomplishes the most salutary changes. The connection between the hair and the skin is so close that the one may almost be deemed a continuation of the other; and hence whatever renovates, restores, and nourishes the hair, must of necessity have a healthful influence upon the sensitive membrane in which its roots are fixed. The skin, that wonderful envelope, in which the sense of touch resides, consists of three layers; the epidermis, or cuticle, a semi-opaque, or almost insensible film; the rete mucosum, which is a spongy membrane, reticulated with nerves and blood vessels, and forms a sort of shield to the exquisitely sensitive true skin; and the true skin itself, which constitutes the third layer of the triple envelope. In this tough, flexible, and elastic integument, of which dermis, blood-vessels, &c., are [illegible]. The vessels of the true skin supply the sacs containing the roots of the hair with the moisture which sustains the fibres, and the same causes which affect the health of the hair, also affect the health of the skin. It acts through the skin upon the hair, stimulating the inert vessels, opening the pores, imparting activity to the circulation, awakening from their lethargy all the vegetative functions which give life, vigor, and beauty to the fibres, extirpating every particle of scurf and dandruff, and soon clothing even the bald or half denuded head with a thick, glossy, silky, and elastic covering. But this is only one of the uses of Professor Barry's Tricopherous. The same properties which restore vital and vegetative power to the skin of the head, are equally beneficial in all cutaneous diseases or superficial injuries. For cuts, burns, bites of insects, sprains, erysipelas, blotches, pimples, scabies, ringworm, rashes, scrofula, prickly heat, chilblains, chapped hands, rheumatism, burns, scalds, bruises, redness of the skin, and in short, all the troublesome and painful external diseases and injuries which are so common in families, and which nothing but external remedies can remove, the Tricopherous will be found a speedy, safe and unfailing cure. By virtue of its double claim as a renovator and beautifier of nature's choicest ornament, and as a potent and invaluable remedial agent, it is entitled to a place on every toilet and in every medicine chest. Sold in large bottles, price 25 cents, at the principal office, 137 Broadway, N. Y., and by the principal merchants and druggists throughout the United States and R. J. TAYLOR, Newport, and J. ### PHALON'S CHEMICAL HAIR INVIGORATOR.

THE constant progressive increase in the sale of this unrivalled article for renewing, beautifying and perpetuating the growth of the hair, is a proof the common sense and experience of a sagacious public will ensure the triumph of a genuine preparation, which sustains by its results the [illegible] over all spurious [illegible] they may be bolstered by [illegible] manufactured statements.— Where the hair has fallen off, it will, in all cases where the vitality of the roots has not been destroyed, produce a full growth of fibres, as elastic and glossy as those with which the denuded scalp was originally clothed. Where the hair is loosening, and thinning, it will renew the yielding roots and restore the growth on the spots which have [illegible] bald. If the hair is harsh and dry, the [illegible] Invigorator will render it soft, flexible, [illegible] for it penetrates to the sacks on which the [illegible] of the hair terminate, and is thus conveyed through each tubular fibre, lubricating the dry substance, and imparting vigor, beauty, and vegetative power to the whole mass of filaments. In cases where the head has become bald, or partially so, by disease, whether local or general, the Chemical Hair Invigorator will infallibly reproduce the lost covering of the scalp in its original profusion and beauty. It has the property of [illegible] the hair, as well as promoting its growth, elasticity and lustre. The [illegible] it regularly according to the directions [illegible] no fear that age will bring so far as the [illegible] [illegible] concomitants, gray hairs [illegible] after the period [illegible] make their appearance. ### HOT AIR COOKING RANGE.

IN presenting this Range to the public, the subscriber would call attention to its merits. He has been well convinced from his own observations that the public are in want of a Range with such improvements as would render it more perfect for all purposes of domestic utility and economy, than any now in the market. In the article which he now offers to the public for examination, he has (if he can place any reliance upon the assurance of experienced dealers in Ranges and Stoves, his customers and his own experience and observations) been successful beyond his most sanguine expectations. The Oven is so constructed as to secure the certainty of thorough baking the bottom of all articles proper to be cooked in an oven. It is unnecessary to say to those who have used ranges, that no previous pattern has been free from defect in this particular.

All parts of this Range is double the usual thickness.

It has been pronounced by competent judges, the most beautiful and perfect in its appearance, of any Cooking Range of this country, with some advantages over many ranges that are made. I would call your attention

1st, To its general beauty and great strength of castings. Also, the quality of iron and the care and skill with which they are mounted. Also, notice the [illegible] which is so constructed as to prevent the least possible chance of breaking or burning out.

2d, The form of the fire chamber [illegible] cylinder lined with soapstone, or fire-brick, [illegible] known to be the best form of fire chamber in which to burn coal.

3d, Notice the front of the range [illegible] tight, with a register in the [illegible], to give draft, which when closed makes the range perfectly air tight. Also a new arrangement for dropping the grate from the [illegible] so that no dust can escape in the room.

4th, The simplicity of the arrangement; it having but one Damper, which [illegible] the whole. ### LIFE ASSURANCE.
ÆTNA INSURANCE CO., HARTFORD CONN. ANNUITY FUND, $150,000.

Safety—Stability—Economy.

THIS long established and well known company having organized a new department for life assurance, with an entirely distinct capital exclusively pledged with its reserved accumulations for the payment of losses upon life assurance only, is prepared to issue policies on lives at rates materially reduced from those charged by the mutual companies, and as low as is consistent with ultimate safety. The system adopted by this company is to ascertain precisely what it is worth to issue a certain amount upon a life, and to charge precisely that sum and no more; and not to require a larger premium than is really requisite for the purpose, with the promise of returning, under the delusive name of profits or dividends, the excess of premium which ought never to have been taken. It is attended with none of those vexatious contingencies which are inseparable from the mutual system; it is perfectly simple as well as uniform and equitable in its operations.

Policies will be granted in the sum of $100, payable after death, or to the party's [illegible] at the age of 40, 45, 50, 55, or 60, at the option of either case free from the claims of creditors.

The usual extra risks will be assumed by the company at reasonable rates.

SMITH'S RENOVATING OINTMENT AND HORSE RENOVATING POWDERS.—The author of our existence has caused to grow spontaneously, throughout the world, such vegetable properties as will at once cure, when properly applied, all curable diseases. The proprietor of these truly valuable Medicines might fill a volume with Certificates and Testimonials in favor of his articles; but, considering such puffs wholly useless, since they are so readily manufactured, and made use of to such an extent to palm off some useless trash upon the public, I shall, therefore, state at once, the various diseases that can be speedily cured by these Invaluable Horse Renovating Powders, viz:—Glanders, Hidebound, and Horse Distemper. It also carries off all gross humors, and purifies the blood.
